

Name and Period: _____

Add Interest With Synonyms

15 Points

Synonyms are two words that mean the same or nearly the same as each other. You can use synonyms for over-used or “tired” words in your writing to add interest to what you are saying.

Read the paragraph below. The numbered words in bold print are over-used words. Think of a synonym you could use to replace each tired word to add interest. Write the word on the corresponding numbered line. Make sure the words you choose have at least five letters in them, you don't repeat words, have correct spelling.

Jennifer and Lara had a nice¹ day at school. In the morning, they listened as their teacher read a nice² story. The work was hard³ during math because they had just started learning a new skill. The teacher was happy⁴ with their progress. It was a nice⁵ day, so they were able to play soccer outside for P.E. The class was happy⁶ when the teacher said they would have a party that afternoon. Jennifer was excited about the party, but Lara did not want to go to the party. She was tired⁷ because she did not sleep well the night before. She stayed in at recess and made a pretty⁸ sign while the other children played outside. She used big⁹ letters to write the word “celebrate.” She even drew butterflies with small¹⁰ dots on their wings. Jennifer came back a few minutes later to help her. Together, they colored the pictures and letters that Lara had drawn. When the other students came back in after recess, they all agreed it was a nice¹¹ sign. The teacher put it up on the board in the front of the room. Then she passed out some good¹² cookies. She told them they were celebrating because they did a good¹³ job on their recent test. She was happy¹⁴ they did well.

1. delightful _____

2. _____

3. _____

4. _____

5. _____

6. _____

7. _____

8. _____

9. _____

10. _____

11. _____

12. _____

13. _____

14. _____